Welcome to the Department of English and Linguistics

The Department of English and Linguistics consists of the following research and teaching fields:

- American Studies
- English Literature and Culture
- English Linguistics
- Language Typology, inclusive Southeast Asian and Japanese Studies

Each of these subdivisions have their own distinct profile, which represents their own respective scholarly orientation and their versatile academic staff. In addition, the subdivisions each network with various other institutions via cooperations which in turn influence their thematic and methodological outlook.

New here? Information about the compulsory placement test for new students enrolling in our bachelor's degree programmes (B.A. American Studies, B.A. English Literature and Culture) is available here.

Compulsory Attendance

With or without compulsory attendance, we advise:

- Participate in all courses regularly.
- Ask questions, make mistakes; deepen your knowledge through exchange and participation in class and improve your language skills.
- Should you miss a class session, it is your responsibility to catch up the missed class material. Lecturers and instructors are not personal tutors.

HOMework

Look up the courses with compulsory attendance in your examination regulations. Paragraph § 5 states how many sessions you are allowed to miss in these courses.

attendance ≠ active participation

Active participation

- For technical reasons, you receive the active participation automatically from JOGUSTiNe upon the course registration
- To fulfill the active participation requirements, you need to complete small assignments determined by the class instructors at the beginning of the semester. For example, homework, protocols, quizzes, or presentations.

Should you not complete the necessary assignments, then you do not fulfill the active participation. This means that the class instructor will declare you “inactive” on JOGUSTiNe and remove your active participation. The class is then grayed out in your registrations.

→ You have to take the class again.

“active participation completed”

→ The course still appears blue in your registrations.

→ You see a small green check in your module summary:

How does the course registration work?

The course and exam registration is ONLY possible in JOGUSStINE during the designated registration periods!

You can find the dates of the registration periods here: <https://info.jogustine.en.uni-mainz.de/registration-periods/course-registration-periods/>

1st course registration period
= main registration period

Course spots are distributed
AFTER the end of a registration period

2nd course registration period
= mainly for students in their 1st semester, or for those who have switched degree courses
or the university

3rd course registration period
= distribution or remaining spots

Course spots are given
IMMEDIATELY upon registration
(first come, first served!)

The more courses you rank, the better the chances you get a spot in the course!

Register for courses responsibly

- Do not overload your semester with courses that you will stop attending after the second semester week. Use your degree plan as a guide for your course registration.
- Think carefully about how many courses you can handle. Consider the weekly workload and the time and effort required for the final exams.
- There are no waiting lists in the subject group English! If you register for a course and then abandon it, the course spot is lost and not accessible to other students who would have needed it.

You can find technical clues regarding the different examination regulations here:

Course work vs. Module exam

Forms of exams

- For example, presentation, oral exam, term paper, etc. – graded

Forms of exams

- For example, written exam, term paper, portfolio, oral exam – graded

Exam registration

- The course registration includes the exam registration (built-in exam registration)
- You have to enter a TAN when registering for the course

Exam registration

- You have to actively register for the exam during the designated exam registration period! (separate exam registration)
- You always have to register for the exam yourself –
no automatic registration
no registration via the Studies Office!

Failing the exam

- You can retake the exam as many times as necessary

Failing the exam

- Maximum 3 attempts
- Retake-Deadline: a failed exam must be registered again and retaken within 6 months after the publication of the grade 5.0, or as soon as possible. If not, then you automatically fail the exam again
- Failing the 3rd attempt = loss of eligibility to take exams!
This means you have failed your entire study program and are not allowed to study it anymore

Cancel exam registrations – or not register in the first place!?

- During the designated exam registration phase, you can also cancel exam registrations.
- You can ONLY cancel exam registrations for module exams and course work during the designated registration phase.
- NO “postponing” exams in the subject English.
You can only take exams in the semester that you took the course.

...and what if I fail an exam?

- It is your responsibility to register the failed exam in order to retake it!

When and how do I register to retake an exam?

Do I have to retake the entire course, or can I just retake the exam?

You can find all necessary information in our FAQs:

<https://www.blogs.uni-mainz.de/fb05dptel-eng/faq-pruefungen/>

Pass! 😊 How do I receive my grade?

Dual control principle:

- The course instructors enter the grades in JOGUSTiNe and pre-release the grades → unfortunately, at this stage the grades are not visible for students yet.
- The exams manager publishes the grades on JOGUSTiNe
→ now they are visible for students!

Where to find exam results and recognized credits in JOGUStINE?

You have handed in credits from a previous study program for recognition?

→ You can find them under “module results” in the semester in which you originally received the credits (choose the semester in the drop-down menu)

The screenshot shows the JOGUStINE web interface with three main tabs: NACHRICHTEN/TERMINE, STUDIUM (studies), and SERVICE. The STUDIUM tab is active.

Sickness during exams

- Please provide a medical certificate to the exams manager within three days of the beginning of the sickness – please note that we are not allowed to accept a medical certificate of incapacity for work (Arbeitsunfähigkeitsbescheinigungen)!
- You can download a medical certificate form on our website. Otherwise, the medical certificate must align with the specifications fixed by the examinations office!
- You can find additional information and explanations on the second page of the medical certificate form about the medical certificate requirements and the withdrawal from exams.
